Issue Is Plain In School Trustee Election Saturday

Cameron's school trustee election will be held on Saturday, April 4, the polling place being the old State Bank building which is now occupied largely by the City of Cameron.

Albert Matula has been named judge of the election. The polls will open at 8 o'clock and close at 7 p. m.

More than usual interest has been manifested in the election of two school trustees to fill two places on the Board when two members declined to offer again for re-election.

The issue involved in the election is whether the school system and its policies shall be directed by a Board of seven men and women elected by the people or whether they will continue to be directed by a one man dictatorship.

For a number of years an increasing number of people have been alienated from their school, some of them overtly while others have quietly fallen away being more modest and not desiring the controversy that inevitably results when there are "two opinions."

Cameron is a friendly city, its people are friendly and they want unity and an end to strife, but these things can not be had until the people themselves say who shall be boss.

No amount of recrimination, charges, snooping, misstatement of facts can hide the facts that the whole matter must and will be determined on the issues substantially as stated above.

Any effort on the part of a few to prejudice others against the Heraid because it has had the courage to state the issue will avail nothing. The Herald asked no man to run nor has it ever done so, but is supporting Roy Law and Charlie Allday because they had the courage to announce as candidates of the people and because they are in no sense "approved" candidates nor did they ask permission from anybody to run and they knew they would be opposed by all possible means, by the selfish dictatorial interest that is responsible entirely for our present disturbance.

It should be said that ten years or twelve years is a long time to stand for it.

Go to the polls Saturday morning and vote, and keep voting until 7 p. m. and let your answer be freedom for our school system which was paid for by the founders of this city and their descendants who never knew anything about such things as proscribing and smearing a neighbor because he had a mind and a soul of his own.

Four Sons Are War Contribution of Wichita Falls Mother

Mrs. Patrick Gordon, 1405 Fillmore, has the unusual distinction of having four sons in the United States Army. They are Pvt. Joseph B. Gordon, formerly with the First National Bank here and now in Ireland; Staff Sergeant John R. Gordon, Fort Sam Houston, Texas; Pfc. Daniel E. Gordon, Fort Mears, Unalaska Dutch Harbor, Alaska, and Sgt. Harry C. Gordon, Luke Field, Arizona.

Mrs. Gordon also lists a son-in-law who is an army flier at Spokane, Wash., Lieut. Joseph R. Rehmet, and a daughter, Mrs. C. E. Wendell, who is a civilian employe at Fort Sam Houston.

"I worried for a while about my boys, but that doesn't help any; I just hope that we can get enough men and planes to the battlefronts to end the war soon," Mrs. Gordon says.

Pat Gordon, late husband of Mrs. Gordon, was an early business man in Burlington, running a grocery store and cafe there for many years.

Mrs. Gordon is the former Miss Lucy Gleason of Burlington. Her father, Timothy Gleason, was the first postmaster at Burlington, in fact established the post office himself. At that time the community that is now Burlington was Waterford. Mr. Gordon named the community Waterford for his birthplace in Ireland. All of his mail went to Weatherford, which was a much larger place, so he named the community Burlington after Burlington, Vermont, where he once lived and where his daughter, Mrs. Pat Gordon, was born.

Mrs. Gordon is a relative of the Dillon family, the Gleasons and the O'Neills at Cameron and Burlington, who share with her the pride of having four sons in the service of our country.

JAPS IN 75 MILES OF BORDER OF INDIA

While the Japs thus approached within a short distance of the Indian border India was apparently resigned to the invasion and will offer little or no resistance.

The offer of dominion status to India by the British has been rejected because of difficulties in reaching an agreement on the terms.

Menwhile the RAF had taken the offensive over France and Germany in what was described as the most intense air raid of the war. There is always speculation that the Allies may be contemplating a new front but this hope has been indulged so long now it is hardly worth mentioning.

The Americans had reduced fighting in the Philippines to patrol duty following the fierce battle on Sunday when they threw the Japs back.

GRADY STIDHAM FOR COMMISSIONER PREC. ?

Grady Stidham, Commissioner of Precinct 2, is a candidate to succeed himself in that office, subject to the Primary election to be held on Saturday, July 25, 1942.

Mr. Stidham has distinguished himself as a member of the Court and has given the people of his Precinct the brand of service that has brought him each two years an increased esteem. Mr. Stidham deeply appreciates the growing confidence of the people in his ability and in his record of service.

Mr. Stidham is a Veteran of World War No. 1, spending much of his time in Island bases off the coast of France as an enlisted man in the Navy. He has a son now serving in the United States Navy, following in the footsteps of his father who went to the defense of his country in 1917.

The office of Commissioner is one of the most important, if not the most important, of any place in the County government. Mr. Stidham's friends point out with pride the record he has made, the service he has rendered and the strength he has given the court.

These are critical days in the life of the people and the country, Mr. Stidham stands ready with his precinct organization and equipment to meet any emergency that may be demanded under war conditions. It is doubtful if any Commissioner in the entire state of Texas has done more with the same amount of funds than has Grady Stidham.

The roads in his district are in splendid condition and during the past few years he has improved a large number of roads in his district by regraveling and building all necessary structures thus serving his territory and translating his official obligations into the kind of service they were intended to give as a County Commissioner.

Mr. Stidham wants the people to know that he is grateful for their confidence and hopes to be able to see each one, to discuss his campaign for re-election, but in the event conditions and requirements on his time do not permit him to see each one he asks for your support and assures all of the people that he will be their Commissioner and render the same faithful and efficient service that has characterized his performance in the past.

Local Housing Could Be Big Help For Men Working Near City

Cameron's housing facilities could be utilized to great advantage by men working in Temple and nearby and no doubt would help solve the problem of a place to live and escape from high rentals, if brought to the attention of employers and Chamber of Commerce.

Ordinarily other towns don't want their people to move away. Under existing conditions Temple cannot house the families who are moving there because of much government work.

Rentals are high. In Cameron there is no government work, but we do have low rentals and a surplus of housing.

The Chamber of Commerce in Cameron no doubt would be doing its share if this matter were brought to the attention of employers.

WASHINGTON

By
CONGRESSMAN POAGE
Defends His Record
in Congress

The appropriation bill for the Department of the Interior has been before the House all week. It will probably be passed tonight. It has been severely reduced as compared with last years bill. Eeveryone realizes that we must make drastic cuts in all of our expenditures that do not contribute directly to our war effort. It is interesting to note, however, that this appropriation bill has not received nearly as deep cuts either in the committee or on the floor of the House as the cuts that were given Agricultural Appropriation Bill two or three weeks ago. As I told you at that time, I supported and voted for some of the cuts in the agricultural bill, just as I have in this bill, because I know that you can't reduce expresses without cutting appropriations. However, I cannot but feel that all the criticism that is heaped on the farmer as a result of high food prices to consumers is a little unfair when I read that "measured in terms of consumer income, the same foods in 20 years of record." As I have so often stated, I am ready to place a limit on all prices—farm prices, wages, food prices, manufacturers' prices, profits and all, but we should certainly let the farmer get his share of the national income before we accuse him of profiteering.

Recently public attention has been focussed on the 'profiteering" of certain labor groups. The public has recognized very clearly that the man who makes planes and guns for our boys should be paid a fair wage for every hour that he works, whether it be the first hour, the forthieth, or the fiftieth our, but that when that man says that he won't work more hours at a fair wage unless he is paid a 50% bonus; then that man becomes a profiteer. I believe that the workman is entitled, just as the farmer is, to a fair wage, but he is not entitled to profit from the distress of his country.

It should not be supposed that all the profiteers are to be found in the ranks of labor. Certainly some of the Congressional investigating committees have, within the past week, exposed some of the most inexcusable and un-American practices among corporations that hold contracts to meet the needs of our country at war. It is true that the Federal income tax takes a large part of all corporate or private profits, but no matter what taxes we impose there will be some contractors who will take advantage of the government. I think it is clear that we must definitely limit profits —and I don't mean by that that we should expand the "cost-plus" system. To my mind these "cost-plus" contracts are absolutely certain to result in abuse and scandal. They should be abandoned, and the use of the so-called negotiated contracts should be restricted as far as possible. Our government will get lots more for its money if the contractors realize that they are going to lose when they load a job down with a lot of useless expense than it will when the contractor can make a profit out of every mistake and useless expenditure he makes. The "cost-plus" theory just does not take into account the fundamental selfishness in human nature. It actually puts a premium on waste. It is one of the practices dear to the heart of the bureaucrats that must go. There are too many people who are anxious to rob "Uncle Sam." We must not deliberately place temptation in the way of those who are not vicious but simply weak and selfish.

I think that the remedy for many of these troubles will be found in the pending Smith and Vinson Bills, which are now before the Committee on Military Affairs and the Committee on Naval Affairs of the House respectively. Their authors say that it will take at least two weeks to complete the committee hearings. These hearings must be completed before the House can act. Mr. Smith and Mr. Vinson both believe, and possibly with some reason, that if the members of the House were to visit the people at home that when they came back the chances of passing the legislation be enhanced. On the other hand, many of the opponents of this legislation feel or say that they feel a few days "cooling period" would cause more members to vote against the legislation. There are, therefore, two strong groups who want the House to recess for a time. Personally, I think we should keep at work and that the committees should hurry up with their hearings and let us vote on these bills without delay. I spoke in opposition to a recess, and am inclined to believe that we may have checked the move in that direction, but of course cannot tell until the issue comes before us. At any time our work here permits it, I expect to come home, but I shall continue to insist that we stay on the job as long as there is legislation ready for our action.

With best wishes, I am
Your friend,
W. R. POAGE,
Congressman, 11th Texas District.

AMERICAN AID STEPPED UP FOR RED RUSSIA

Ten German transports, presumably loaded with troops, were sunk Friday in the Arctic Ocean by Russian naval and air units in one of the most successful offensive operations in recent months in the northern theatre of war.

Unusual significance was attached to the sea battle in view of recent reports that the Germans are attempting to secure the Arctic port of Murmansk and to prevent it from becoming a gateway of supply for the Soviet Union.

In Washington Friday morning President Roosevelt announced that war materials going to Russia will be given the right of way over materials going to any other part of the world. This was taken to indicate that the decisive struggle of the war will occur in Russia this summer.

The German news agency had no report to make in reference to the sinking of the ten transports.

The Japanese have launched an all out attack both in the Philippines and in Burma.

The arrival in Australia of Manuel Quezon, President of the Republic of the Philippines, was related by alied news sources as a refutation of the Japanese claim that Quezon had died, but in other quarters it was regardded as further indication that the situation in the Phiiippines is unfavorable.

General Douglas MacArthur has sent a message of cheer to his soldiers on Bataan as the Japs began what many say is the new campaign to wrest the Philippines from the Americans and the Philippinos.

The scale of air raids being conducted by the RAF over Germany and occupied countries may be proof of the fact that last night 13 British planes were lost over the continent.

German planes were over Great Britain in large numbers early Friday but there was no report on the amount of damage done, if any.

25 Per Cent Increase In News Print Prices

An indication of what may be expected in news print prices came today when the Cameron Herald received an invoice with a mark up of 25 per cent in the cost of newsprint, the kind on which the Daily Herald is printed as well as the Weekly Herald.

During World War days No. 1 the Herald paid as high as $300 a ton for news print or a total of 15c per pound. It will not be surprising if such a condition again arises.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain ready shipment of other lines of printing papers.

The City of Cameron will be closed for Good Friday between the hours of 12 p. m. and 3 p. m. on April 3.

This plan of pre-Easter observance has been in operation in the city for a long time and is a commendable religious co-operation which has done much to emphasize the importance of this season in Cameron and to bring unity among all faiths.

The Daily Herald will bring a complete program of the religious services on tomorrow that all may have in advance the information.

Of special importance is the Sunrise Easter service to be held at the First Christian Church of Rev. Lamar Hocker.

Need For Conserving Wool Brings New Styles Into Vogue; Memorandum to J. C. Penney Co., Discloses How Suits and Coats Are Now Cut

Drastic restrictions in the use of wool cloth in men's clothing is reveaied in a memorandum received here by J. M. Boehner, Manager of the J. C. Penney Company.

Coats and sport coats must not exceed 29 3-4 inches for size 37 regular, in length. Other sizes are in proportion.

Double breasted suits must now be made without vests and patched pockets are prohibited. You cannot buy full dress coats or cut away coats any more and double breasted tuxedos are forbidden. When you buy a single breasted suit you may buy a vest, but the vest may not have patch pockets, collar or lapels.

Fancy back coats and such things as vents, belts, pleats, tucks, gussets, and yokes are eliminated.

You cannot now buy a suit of clothes with to paris of pants. The knee and bottom width of trousers are restricted to 22 inches at knee and 18 1-2 inches at bottom for a 32 waist regular.

These restrictions run in about the same proportion with respect to all wool clothing with top coats and overcoats coming in for their share on restrictions. For instance if you buy an overcoat you cannot have outside patch pockets of wool cloth, no cuffs on sleeves no belts or pleats.

Mr. Boehner said that the restrictions are a part of the national program for conserving wool. All trousers must be finished without cuffs. If you purchase a pair of trousers that are too long the cloth cut off must be returned to the government and the pants finished without cuffs.

The penalty for violation of these regulations is severe. The bulletin is issued by J. C. Penney Company and goes into considerable length to explain the details of operation to all the stores and the Herald is indebted to Mr. Boehner for the opportunity to present this information to the public.

GANDHI REFUSING TO FIGHT! STOPS BRITISH

War news for the day was highligthed with Britsh difficulties in India where Mahatma Gandhi, pacifist leader, had rejected the offer of dominion status for his people because he does not want to fight.

Gandhi, one of the world's most influential men, wears a bed sheet and drinks goat milk and can walk only by being supported by companions.

His weapon is the hunger strike. He has been fighting the British for years. He is a lawyer, a graduate of Oxford in England.

The conference was said to have broken down.

It was regarded as a little bit too late for the British to offer freedom to India now that the Japs are knocking at the door of the great empire of 250 million people.

British forces in Burma are reported in grave circumstances and the Chinese are retreating.

TO GUARD COTTON PROFIT —plant CERESAN-TREATED seed!

This season, don't waste money, time and labor on cottonseed that won't produce a good stand and paying yield. Go on the defensive against seed-borne diseases right now by planting only CERESAN-treated seed! Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, reporting on tests, says, "Machine delinting plus treatment with . . . Ceresan gave highest increases in germination and yield." CERESAN generally reduces seed rotting, soreshin, surface seed-borne anthracnose and angular leaf spot; helps protect early-planted seed in unfavorable weather; usually improves stands to save replanting; commonly increases yields, often 10 to 25%. Treat your own seed, or buy seed marked with the Ceresan Certificate Tag.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES TO BE ELECTED SATURDAY

The election on Saturday should not be confused with the general city election which is to be held on Tuesday, April 7.

They are two sepadate elections, with the Trustees election coming on Saturday, April 4, and the City election to be held on the following Tuesday, April 7.

Tickets for the City election have already been printed and no opposition is anticipated.

Roy Law and Charley Allday are candidates for School Trustees, having announced as candidates of the people and are running on the platform that the policy of the school be dirceted by the members of the Board who are chosen by the people.

Mr. Law and Mr. Allday are in no may "officially approved" candidates and will represent all of the people.

At the same time Trustee elections are to be held in all of the precincts of the county, but Cameron is an independent district and the election here has nothing to do with the other precincts in the county.

In order that no confusion be had about this matter the voters of Cameron should remember that the School Trustee election will be held on Saturday, April 4, this week.

WITH THE BAPTIST

Tuesday night was one of the high lights in our Revival meeting so far. Bro Sanders gave away three boxes of candy. One to the couple that had been married the longest, one to the couple that had been married the shortest time and one to the couple that had the largest number of children present.

Bro. Mason brought us a fine message on the home. Just think we have only four more days in this one week Revival, may each and every one of us give our best the rest of the week.

The message tonight will deal with the church member. We are asking every church member that is not providentialy hindered to be present tonight without fail. We need to be about our Master's business. Are you giving him your best. The services will start at 8 o'clock. Every one that will help out in the singing be sure and come.

Correction Is Made On Escape of Negro

Sheriff Valter White has asked a correction of a published report of the escape of a negro by the name of Montgomery, arrested by City Marshal, Gene Smith and placed in jail on burglary charges.

The negro was a trusty at the jail and the sheriff says he walked off and disappeared. He did not leave the Jail during religious services. As published the new store may have caused some to think the negro escaped jail by breaking out.

Such was not the case and the Herald is glad to correct this impression.

Public Interest Defines Issues In School Trustee Election Here Saturday, April 4

Cameron's School Trustee election to be held on Saturday, April 4 was enlisting increased interest on the part of the citizens who have manifested unusual interest in the candidacy of Roy Law and Charles E. Allday.

They filed for places on the Board following the announcement of two Board members that they would not run again, and after they had been urged by many citizens to do so.

An issue which cuts squarely across the face of the town and about which much has happened to hurt the school system, is the question whether policies for the school shall be formulated by the seven members, who are elected by the people. Since Mr. Law and Mr. Allday have both expressed their allegiance to this most emphatically democratic method many people who have been hurt deeply by reason of the opposite policy are feeling more hopeful that the schools may again become the common interest of all the people.

The schools are much bigger and more important than any individual or any number of individuals.

As an institution so vital in the lives of the people no condition should ever arise or be permitted to exist which would deny to anyone the freedom to feel that "this is my school too."

Mr. Law and Mr. Allday did not ask for nor could they have received any "official indorsement." They are in no sense "approved" candidates.

For a long time there has existed in Cameron a situation which would not permit you or your good neighbor to become a candidate for School Trustee except over the protest of the superintendent of the schools and then only to be fought bitterly as an enemy of "our system."

There is a hopeful sign that all the people, regardless of factional division over the question of personalities, may now come to the aid of the school system in the light of what a vast majority of our citizens desire, to feel free to visit the school; to feel they have a common share in so great an institution, and above all restoration to our community the blessings of unity and common purpose.

Our public school system is a product of the Constitution. So is religious liberty. All about us today, everywhere in our city, fly the Stars and stripes. There is no place beneath the colors of this land, for a dictatorship nor discrimination by those in authority, against men and women who do nothing more nor less than express honest differences of opinion.

In Article On Issues Involved In School Race Many Say Their Feelings Have Been Expressed

Proof that the people of Cameron want to have a share in the pride which every citizen feels in the success of his school system, was evidence today when scores of citizens told the Daily Herald that they fully indorsed what was said on yesterday with respect to the issues involved in the Trustee election to be held on Saturday, April 4.

In most cases, with those who came, it was the story of some form of humiliation or mistreatment. They were not angry, they were disappointed and deeply hurt and seemed to take considerable satisfaction over the fact that something had been said to express what they really feel.

When the people have spoken on April 4 nothing will follow of the nature which many have been made to endure during the past few years. On the other hand there will be a general feeling that all of the strife has finally come to an end and nobody dislikes anybody, but everybody will feel free to co-operate because they know they will be welcome back to the place in which they once served as everyday champions of a better and more friendly school system.

No doubt many citizens will be contacted; you may even be insulted or intimidated. At the very least you will be made to feel you are not a good citizen unless you string along with the dictator, but be of good cheer. Stand up, vote and restore the school system to its rightful place in the affections of all the people who are tax payers and patrons.

The finances of the school, or that portion of it alloted for local expenditures for supplies used anywhere in the system, should not be used as a weapon to reward the few and punish the many.

Every man in business who has for sale any product used in connection with the school system should be given his just share of the business and this will come to pass in time when justice finally prevails and we have peace and team work.

UNITED NATIONS TAKE TOLL ON ALL FRONTS

British land, sea and air forces Saturday had conducted a large scale raid on the west coast of France.

There were no details concerning the extent of the operation, but it is presumed to be another of such operations as the British have engaged in off the coast of Norway and once off the coast of France to destroy installations, take prisoners and strafe the enemy.

While the British were harassing the Germans on the west coast of France feinting for an opening with the possible view of invasion, the situation in Burma was eased up considerably with the Chinese attacking and receiving large reinforcements.

American and Philippino troops on Bataan peninsula also have gone into action, have driven off Japanese air planes and have shot down 8 bombers.

The Reds in Russia have shot down 13 Nazi bombers and sunk one German destroyer.

On the whole the situation was little changed but there was increasing evidence of added strength to the effort of the United Nations and with each day weather conditions are becoming more favorable for large scale operations.

CORRECTION IS MADE FOR VERA FISHER CANDIDATE FOR TREASURER OF MILAM CO.

Vera Fisher of Hanover, a candidate for County Treasurer, was in the city Monday morning and while here came to the Herald plant to call attention to an error made in her announcement on Saturday.

Miss Fisher has been Secretary and Treasurer of the Union Sunday School at Hanover and not at Liberty.

While Miss Fisher attends church at Liberty her work has been at Hanover where the Union Sunday School embraces people of all faiths who live there in that community.

In order for the people at Liberty Church to know the error was made by the publisher and not by Miss Fisher this correction is printed.

TERRIFIC LOSSES ARE INFLICTED ON INVADERS

The Japanese onslaguht in the Philippines has been rolled back with staggering losses after bitter fighting over a period of two days and nights.

Monday silence had settled down over the bloody peninsula of Bataan as the gallant army of General Douglar MacArthur, now under the command of General Wainright, dealt the Japs such staggering blows they have not been able to resume fighting.

The fortress at Corrigedor which now rivals Malta in the number of bombing attacks was still resisting and comminding the gate to the harbor of Manila. Numerous Japanese boats were shattered by artillery fire and all attacks have been turned back.

Large air battles are now in progress over Libya where General Rommel, German commander, was expected to launch a new drive.

On New Guinea 40 inches of rain have fallen within the past 48 hours.

Floods are so terrific that the Japs have been halted and have been made to retreat 27 miles.

President Roosevelt Monday announced a new Pacific war council which will meet in Washington on Wednesday.

Great Britain has offered dominion status to India after the war is over and Sir Stafford Cripps has issued an appeal to the Indian people for cooperation against the Japs.

The situation in Burma has been somewhat improved but is still serious with the Chinese doing all of the fighting.

I KNOW MY STUFF

When someone asks me what finally wins wars I tell him its MORALE. When someone asks me what's Morale I tell him it's the spirit that makes us confident we'll lick the Nazis and the Japs, but makes us realize we'll have to work like blazes to do it.

When someone asks me when the war will end, I tell him I'm just as interested in how it will end. There'll be no peace one earth until we have good will among men, and there'll be no good will among men so long as the Nazi and Jap dictators roam the plains.

When someone tells me that Germany is crumbling, I tell him to get the salt shaker and take a grain or so. I wouldn't be surprised if the Nazi press agents were spreading those reports so as to make us slow up and be over-confident. I notice Joe Louis never under rates the other feilow.

When I hear Hitler rant about Nazi purity, I think of boys in our army and navy and the places their folks came from—England, Ireland, France, Germany, Italy, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Sweeden; Protestants, Catholics and Jews. That's America, and it's pure enough for me.

When somebody talks to me about France. I tell him one thing it lacked was civilian defense. I am registered for civilian denefse. ARE YOU?

When someone talks to me about friendship with Hitler, I tell him Mussolini tried that. Did you ever try to pat a Porcupine?

When some one keeps criticizing the way things are going, I tell him I never saw a ball game won by the noisy fellow in the bleachers who's yelling at the umpire and razzing the players. Games are won by the men in the field and the coaches and captains who stand back of them. Let's pull together and have team work—that's MORALE.

Australia has shelved grand strategy in favor of just plain, hard fighting against the enemy where he's at.

WE ARE BEGINNING TO WIN

The Ohio manufacturer who was making exorbitant war profits on war production couldn't stand the pressure of public opinion brought to bear up on him. He has cut his own salary. He has cut his profits. He has thrown his bonuses out the window—for the duration.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, who was denouncing our Texas meetings for demanding the forty-eight-hour week, couldn't stand the pressue of public opinion, either. He has reversed himself. He has agreed to support the forty-eight-hour law. He is now with us—for the duration.

The leaders of the big labor unions who were turning on the strikes here, there and yonder, couldn't stand the pressure of the people's expressed will, themselves. They have turned the strikes off as you would turn off a water spigot in your back yard. They did it suddenly. They promise to keep on doing it—for the duration.

These things are victory for you, Mr. and Mrs. America. You said you wanted to win the war NOW. You said it with pen in hand. You said it with tears in your eyes. You said it with thunder in your voice. At long last the bigwigs afar have begun to hear the great heartbeat of America.

It is true that Washington still grumbles about the fifth column and wisecracks about a sixth column. The American newspaper has eight columns, and it does not propose to apologize to anybody anywhere about any of those columns. If any of them or all of them are needed to blast official Washington out of politics-as-usual, the blast will come and it will not be muffled. It is the highest service that American journalism can perform. American journalism will take the risk.

It is not enough to win in one factory, or in one high office, or in a few concessions from above. Leaders in business, in labor, in government, have got to be forced, if necessary, to face the fact that this is a life-and-death matter to the fathers and mothers who have boys facing death. We want to begin winning the war NOW—at Washington and everywhere else. Tell them so.—Dallas News.

MY MOTHER'S DIARY

At the old home. A few short
Lines each day were all she wrote.
My mother's ways
Were simple. When she planted columbines
She put it down; the day she set a hen;
The little calf she weaned from mother-cow;
Her daily household tasks , or
When she visited the sick * * *
But O somehow
One line apart from others seems to stand—
"I went to the post office," she would say * * *
I look upon it--here in her own hand--
That one short line she wrote from day to day.
Dear God on high, can mother see tonight
These tears for letters that I failed to write?

—Elsie Duncan Sanders.

Bulldog Waiting for Owner; Now at Lloyd Sanford Farm

A bulldog believed to be about 18 months old and weighing about 75 pounds is at the Lloyd Sanford farm in the Marlow community.

This dog came to the Sanford home several days ago and has been taken care of by Mr. Sanford and his family.

Wednesday morning Mr. Sanford came to the Daily Herald to report the dog and the Herald is publishing this notice so that the owner of the dog may know of its whereabouts. Mr. Sanford can be contacted at the Buckhorn Cafe. He is a dog lover and knows something about the anxiety of a man who has lost his dog.
